

NEW BUILDING PROJECTS ARE NOW POSSIBLE

800 New Federal Structures Made Possible By Elliott Bill

ADD'L APPROPRIATION

Survey Made in 1928 Determines the Building Needs

By Robert S. Thornburgh
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Nearly 800 new Federal building projects will be made possible by the Elliott bill, appropriating an additional $115,000,000 for construction work outside of the District of Columbia, it was learned at the Treasury today.

A total of 570 projects have been authorized under the original $248,000,000 building program, exclusive of government buildings in Washington. The supervising architect's office planned to speed up work on the projects already authorized, rather than submit bills for additional buildings to Congress until a new survey of requirements has been completed.

An official explained that a survey had been conducted during 1928 to determine Federal building needs, but it must be rechecked because during the year, in a number of other cities, the Government has been forced to rent additional space or congested conditions developed, requiring additional facilities.

When appropriated the $115,000,000 will be applied on the projects now provided for, or in the course of construction, and then from time to time Congress will be asked to make further authorizations where requirements are most pressing. It was not known definitely when the first bills calling for new projects would be submitted. Officials explained most of the additional projects were contained in the report submitted to the second session of the 70th Congress.

This report outlined the Federal building needs of the entire country, but it will be somewhat revised and brought up to date before new projects are proposed by the Treasury.

One feature of the Elliott Bill, a provision authorizing the employment of private architects in preparing building plans and specifications, was regarded as highly important in speeding up operations. For a structure costing from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 sixty architects would be engaged six months. Jobs of that character tax the facilities of the supervising architect's office.

The Treasury-Post Office committee is rushing the preliminary work of site selection and building authorization so the additional government work may be a factor in contributing to the general business improvement.

AUTOMOBILES ARE CONVENIENCE TO OLD AND YOUNG IN THIS AGE OF MUCH ACTIVITY; WILL MAKE FINE CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR THE FAMILY

Including today there are only 4 shopping days to Christmas.

By "Gift Seeker"

Hills and valleys, highways and byways are the playground of the motorist today. And I for one am thankful that we have been able to have a car for years.

Without an automobile one is inconvenienced in many ways in this age. Old folks and young depend upon them, as well as the kiddies—I know it's so in our house.

When there is a dance, a party or an alumni activity that Bob and I want to attend, the sedan is brought from the garage and into service. A meeting of one of the church organizations that mother or dad wish to attend is brought near to home by use of the car. And for the tots, jubilant over an early evening party that occurs on rare occasions, of course dad or brother must act as chauffeur.

And what good times the whole family has in the summer! That long looked-for vacation is talked of for months, and when the day finally arrives the auto is piled full—the outside with bags and a trunk on the rear, and the inside with folks. And then the days just fly. Mile after mile passes in quick succession as we hurry to reach a certain glorious spot. Or if desired, and especially

BOY SCOUT CAMPAIGN VICTORY DINNER HELD

Over $41,000 of the $53,000 Quota is Reported Raised in the County

SOME "OVER THE TOP"

The Victory Dinner for the men conducting the Bucks County Boy Scout Campaign for $53,000 was held in the Salem Reformed Church, Doylestown, last evening, with approximately 80 in attendance.

Of the desired $53,000 over $41,000 was reported raised, and the men present assured Chairman Clarence J. Buckman they would continue the work until the needed sum was raised. It is believed that more than $41,000 has been secured to date, as owing to bad weather a number of districts were not represented at last night's affair. Forty chairmen spoke, and many assumed new quotas in order to put the drive "over the top."

Districts which have secured their quota are: Richlandtown, Harvey Freed, chairman; Riegelsville, John C. Poore, chairman; Nesaminy, A. S. Kriebel, chairman; Buckingham, J. Carroll Malloy, chairman; Chalfont, Charles M. Hartzell, chairman; New Hope, J. Parker Borden, chairman; one Doylestown team, W. Lawrence Mason; Trevoze, Rev. Alexander B. Davidson; Yardley, James Groome, chairman.

Thomas B. Stockham, mayor of Morrisville, spoke upon "Our New Day in Scouting"; and another speaker was R. J. Seymour, Philadelphia Regional Executive of Region No. 2, National Council of Boy Scouts.

In lower Bucks County which was given a quota of $15,000, there has been raised $10,594. Bristol borough has secured $10,107 of its $13,500 quota.

PENNA. DELEGATION MEETS WITH SENATOR

Joseph R. Grundy Tendered Informal Luncheon By State Colleague

LONGWORTH ATTENDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The holiday spirit of good fellowship and a total absence of discussions of a political aspect marked the luncheon tendered Senator Joseph R. Grundy, of Pennsylvania, yesterday, by Congressman Henry W. Watson, of Langhorne, in order that the members of the Pennsylvania House delegation might meet together with the new junior Senator, Speaker Longworth, Colonel John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, and Joseph D. Rodgers, of Philadelphia, sergeant-at-arms, were the only others in attendance.

Representative Watson has represented Senator Grundy's home section in the House for many years, and as a member of the Ways and Means Committee has had a long contact with the new Senator, particularly in regard to tariff legislation.

Senator Reed and Representatives Porter, Welsh, Sullivan, Shreve, Beck, Estep and Turpin were absent from today's informal event. Present, however, in addition to Representative Watson, were Representatives Graham, Ransley, Golder, Connolly, Darrow, Wolfenden, Watres, Brumm, Esterly, McFadden, Kleas, Magrady, Beers, Dontrich, Leech, Kurtz, Menges, Chase, Kendall, Temple, Swick, Cochran, Coyle, Wyant, Kelly, and Campbell.

Speaker Longworth made a brief speech, referring to the fact that Senator Grundy was no stranger to Washington in that there were only five members of the House who had served longer than he himself has enjoyed. He recalled Mr. Grundy's presence when he first came to the Capitol in 1903.

Colonel Tilson welcomed the new Pennsylvania Senator as a veteran Republican leader and spoke in complimentary terms of the potential force in Republicanism represented by the two Republican Senators from Pennsylvania and the solid delegation in the House.

Like Mr. Longworth he also complimented the services of Sergeant-at-Arms Rodgers.

Senator Grundy, in response, expressed his gratification at the honor being paid him. He observed that he was undergoing a new experience in public affairs, having been catapulted from the only public office he has ever held—the Borough Council of Bristol—into the United States Senate.

He expressed his satisfaction at having a solid Republican delegation to cooperate with in the House, and expressed the view that Pennsylvania Republicans in the National Legislature could accomplish much for their State and in so doing would benefit the entire Nation.

Due to the rain the Rotarians were unable to make their flying trip to Washington.

"Thank God for the rain," says Jacob C. Schmidt, president of borough council.

HISTORICAL PICTURES SHOWN EXCHANGEITES

Oscar Bean, Doylestown, Is Guest Speaker at Club Session Here

PICTURES HIS HOBBY

The Bristol Exchange Club members were entertained last night at their last weekly meeting of the year with a delightful moving picture program that proved both historical and amusing.

Oscar Bean, distinguished attorney from Doylestown, was the guest speaker for the evening, but he proved to be such an expert photographer that his films talked for him.

Armed with two projecting machines and four reels of moving pictures taken by himself, Mr. Bean held the interest of the Exchangeites with scenes in Bucks County, many of which were familiar to the audience, the Keene Home on Radcliffe street and the William E. Doran ferry steaming across the river and other scenes of an historical nature.

Two reels of scenes taken at the Doylestown Fair were very amusing. The photographer has the characters running backwards, and a fisherman standing on the river bank coaxing the fish to jump from the river to his hand.

In speaking of his favorite hobby Mr. Bean said that he has gone from one end of the county to the other taking pictures and that each reel consists of sixteen hundred individual pictures.

Other guests who were introduced by Asa Fabian, the retiring president, were Burgess Clifford L. Anderson and Claude S. Wetherill, of Doylestown.

Percy G. Ford was elected president for the ensuing year with Dr. Frank Lehman, vice-president; Pemberton Munster, secretary and Charles I. Bowen, treasurer.

Ladies' night will be celebrated at next meeting night with a big New Year's party.

HALTS AUCTION SALE WHEN TURKEYS GO CHEAP

Birds Are Withdrawn When First Choice Sell For 30 Cents

PRIVATE PRICE, 38 CENTS

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 20.—Turkeys shipped from the Delaware and Maryland farms to the famous Doylestown turkey auction conducted by Marshall W. Taylor during the Christmas season on his poultry farm here, will have to "strut their stuff in Philadelphia."

The auction, scheduled for yesterday afternoon, started off on time, but lasted only ten minutes, after the first lot of twenty-five turkeys, known as "first picking," sold "on the hoof" for a new low record price of 30 cents a pound.

"That's enough gentlemen; no more turkeys will be sold today at auction, you can buy all you want at private sale but they will cost you 35 cents a pound," declared Auctioneer "Cy" Walters, who received orders from Auction Manager Taylor.

Close to 2,000 festive birds, in fine condition for the Christmas table, cavorted about the pens with glee after the hammer had fallen on the first and only bid of the day that was offered. Telephone communication with Philadelphia was quickly made and the balance of the turkeys were ordered shipped to Philadelphia poultry centers for sale tomorrow.

At 30 cents a pound for first-choice turkeys "on the hoof," housewives will have to pay only 41 cents a pound dressed for the best turkey that money can buy. If the weather remains warm, it is predicted that the retail price of turkey may drop as low as 35 cents a pound before Christmas, marketmen predicted today at the sale.

Some chickens brought as much as the turkeys today. Hundreds of pullets were sold for 30 cents a pound live weight while mixed lots sold for 20 cents a pound.

CONGRESSMAN AND FOUR OTHERS KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE NOSE-DIVES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—Congressman Wm. K. Kaynor (R.) of Massachusetts, and four others, were instantly killed this morning when a tri-motored Fokker airplane nose-dived at Bolling field here. They were taking off for Springfield, Mass. The other dead are Captain Harry A. Dinger, pilot, Private C. Kuzna, Arthur A. McGill, Stanley B. Lowe. The plane took off without incident and proceeded northward over the field preparatory to taking a bank for a southerly direction. It was negotiating the bank for the turn when observers saw it crash suddenly to the ground from an altitude of 300 feet. "Its nose dived right into the ground," one observer said. Lowe was the Congressman's secretary and lived in Springfield as did his employer. McGill was a friend of Kaynor. The machine was piloted by Capt. Dinger and Private Kuzna was the mechanic. All of the occupants of the plane were killed instantly. Rep. Kaynor and McGill were en route to Springfield to spend the Christmas holidays with their families. They carried some Christmas presents for members of the family. Gloom was cast over Congress when word of the crash spread throughout the Capital. The War Department sent officers to the field to get details of the tragedy. All that was known at 10.45 a. m. was that "The plane reached an altitude of 300 feet and nose-dived, killing all five of the occupants."

Injured When Forced From Highway; Is Treated Here

Treatment is being administered at the Harriman Hospital to Angelo Maturato, of Morris street, Philadelphia, who sustained injuries when his truck was forced off the Lincoln Highway at South Langhorne yesterday afternoon.

Maturato was operating a truck for a transportation company, and was en route to Philadelphia. According to Maturato another car being driven toward New York forced him off the roadway and into a ditch. Before he could right the truck Maturato struck a tree.

Numerous contusions were suffered by Maturato, who was brought to the local institution and detained overnight for X-rays.

CO. MEDICAL DIRECTOR MAKES REPORT FOR YEAR

Motorized Health Car's Trips Resulted in Children's Benefit

FINE DENTAL WORK

Dr. C. W. Many, county medical director for Bucks county, today forwarded his report to the Secretary of Health at Harrisburg outlining the work accomplished by him in his official capacity during the year 1929.

The report states that during the tourist months 169 wayside stands and eating places were inspected by health officers in the county for the purpose of checking up on the observance of the rules and regulations set down by the Department with respect to food handlers. In the majority of instances samples of water were collected from the wells on these premises to establish their safety for patrons. Also many private supplies upon request were analyzed by the Department's laboratories in Philadelphia. In a number of instances contamination was discovered and the report indicates that the conditions have been remedied. A number of cases of violation of the food regulations were also discovered and corrected.

Doctor Many states that during the summer round-ups conducted in the county by the bureau of child health in connection with the motorized health car, a large number of preschool children have been brought up to normal weight and many physical defects noted at the time of the examination, corrected also.

Nineteen sessions of the dental clinic were held and the state motorized dental laboratory car conducted splendid work in the outlying districts.

The report also shows that 52 baby clinics were held with a splendid record of 122 new babies admitted and 121 former ones in attendance. These clinics, according to Doctor Many, have been of great value in discovering latent defects and thus removing definite handicaps which in later years would more seriously and more plainly make themselves manifest.

Heart and lung clinics were held in Quakertown with an attendance of 65; in Doylestown, with an attendance of 16 and in Bristol with an attendance of 106.

Toxin-antitoxin clinics and Schick testing have been held during the year in every section of the county. This procedure involves immunization against diphtheria.

Commenting on this activity, Doctor Many in an interview today said, "I have noted that diphtheria is occurring among an older age group. From this it may be assumed that the school age children have been largely immunized whereas a larger percentage of the older pupils have not been so protected. For that reason the administration of toxin-antitoxin is being conducted and we are urging it early in the life of all pre-school children and for those who are older and who have not as yet been given this excellent preventive."

The report indicated that two cases of smallpox were reported during the year by Doctor Many's service in Bucks county. These infections were in the same family, having been imported from North Carolina to Yardley. Twenty-eight cases of diphtheria were reported since September, 1928, and two deaths from that disease occurred. In addition, there were 10 cases of typhoid fever.

One of the major drives, according to Doctor Many's report, made this year was against piggery owners who were not conducting their business in this county according to the rules and regulations of the State Department of Health. In this connection the report shows that many of the nuisances have been removed and that there is a tendency on the part of piggery owners to comply with the law.

In concluding the report, Doctor Many said, "Work in this county has been most satisfactory. Credit must not alone be given to State and local health personnel but to allied agencies and individuals interested in problems of this character in our locality, including the local press."

Watson Introduces Bill For State Gift to U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—It is proposed that Pennsylvania shall contribute the handsomest fountain in the world as a gift to the national capital in a bill introduced today by Congressman Watson, of Langhorne. The measure has the support of Senators Reed and Grundy.

Two sites are under consideration, one in the proposed Union Square, the other on the site of Poli's Theatre, diagonally across from the Treasury Building.

The plans of the sponsors of this movement contemplate the raising of funds by the Pennsylvania Gift Fountain Association, of which Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, with Senators Reed and Grundy, Representative Watson and other prominent Pennsylvanians, are incorporators.

"Washington has only a few fountains," Representative Watson said, "and this prompted the suggestion that one be erected on Pennsylvania avenue in honor of our State."

"It is proposed to erect a fountain that will become as celebrated as those of Paris and Rome. The Government can accept a gift only through an act of Congress, and, therefore, I have offered this resolution."

CENSORSHIP USAMERICAN

Censorship in a free society and a free country is wholly incompatible and unjustifiable except in very rare instances. As the home of a free people the United States ought as far as possible to get the idea of censorship out of mind. It is the worst and most vicious manifestation of paternalism and legislative tyranny, against which a majority of the people seem to be in healthy revolt but for which certain elements are unceasingly and tirelessly contriving. Censorship is the dictatorship of the few over the many, for if the whole people favored censorship the object for it would not exist.

The nation outside of New York was amazed when the censoring element seemingly got the upper hand in the metropolis in the determination of those plays the public may see and those it may not spend its money for. This surprise may be accounted for by the heretofore general belief in the provinces that liberty, liberty and tolerance are the unchallenged heritages of the nation's largest city. It is to be assumed now, since the representatives of the taxpayers and voters of New York claim the right to censor the city's theaters, that the city is the seat of liberty, liberty and tolerance for its thousands of visitors and not for its own citizens. The answer may be found in two brief statements of fact. The plays "under suspicion" are "sold out" weeks in advance. And, statistics show that the resident New Yorker is not a theater-goer.

The anti-everything element in this country is powerful enough to procure much of the censorship it has sought. Movie censorship is well established in some states. Censorship of the theater has long been within the power of the police in most cities and towns. The post-office department at Washington occasionally invokes its authority to censor literature. There is censorship, but it is by the will of the majority, and if it is with the consent of the majority, doesn't it overreach government by the majority to the extreme of tyranny by the majority?

Lily Rebekah Lodge Has Christmas Party Here

The members of Lily Rebekah Lodge No. 366, gave a Christmas party in I. O. O. F. Hall on Tuesday evening.

The room was tastefully decorated with the season's colors, red and green crepe paper streamers, and from the center of the ceiling a beautiful star was suspended. There was a Christmas tree, and Santa Claus arrived with many gifts which he gave to the members and their families who were invited guests.

There was singing, recitations, and a piano solo of the Christmas carols by Miss Eleanor Dyer.

"IS EVERYBODY HAPPY?"

By ELEANORE CAREY

This novel is based on the Warner Bros. & Vitaphone production starring Ted Lewis

SYNOPSIS

In jazz-mad New York, unable to find a job as violinist, Ted Molnar is forced to play jazz as a solo phonist in a Hungarian Cafe. His father disowns Ted for playing the jazz he so despises. When his wife sympathizes with Ted, the father leaves home. The public is captivated by Ted's individual style. Gail Wilson, her employer, Mr. Abrams, help Ted to organize a band act of his own and induce him to engage as dancer Lena Schmidt, his Budapest sweetheart who had received him so coldly in New York. Lena tries to reawaken his love, and Gail, whom he now loves sincerely, is jealous. Lena quits the act and Gail goes on in her place, but refuses to listen to Ted's explanation. Ted finds some cheer helping his mother prepare a happy Christmas for poor children.

INSTALLMENT XIX

Slowly but surely Mary regained a happy consciousness. Her first thought was of her doll—no questions—nothing else mattered now. Her long-dreamed dream of happiness had been fulfilled. She very carefully put the doll in front of her—felt of his "loopy head"—and his eyes that closed when she put him on his back. His little hands seemed outstretched to her and the little mittens were so tiny—just like the ones the good, good lady had given her. Once more great tears oozed up and splashed down her cheeks—she cried this time—sobbing audibly—cried for happiness—she had a doll!

After Mrs. Molnar and Ted had fitted socks, sweaters, caps, and mittens of warm, closely-knit wool, and the children had been

"Please do not mention the girl's name, I hate her."

Given oranges and candy and their various toys, they were dismissed—all but Mary, who still remained in Mrs. Molnar's bed. The maid brought her a dinner of good things—nourishing things and then Ted took her home in his car. The first "lot" of three had been taken care of.

Mrs. Molnar sat waiting for her son—when he returned—her eyes still beaming and a look of genuine joy on her face.

"Ted," she said, "somehow I feel better tonight—despite the ache in my heart. We have so much to be thankful for—and I am confident now that soon our hearts will be light again for our loved ones will be back."

"I wish I could feel that way, mother," Ted answered, "but Gail has shown me that it is all over. And I cannot bear it—somehow—I do not want to live without her! Do you feel that way about father, too?"

"You forget, my boy, that your father and I have been together for many years—and love is like anything else—it can't stand still. It either grows greater or it cools and dies—and your father and I were very fond of each other, you know. Perhaps that answers your question, son—remember, it isn't as if we were just starting. There is a good part of a life time of joys and cares—happiness and hideous memories—things that cement one tighter than anything else. If your love for Gail is worth anything, this enforced separation will only make it grow—and she in her turn will not be able to bear the separation longer. Just you wait, child, Gail will come back!" And Mrs. Molnar's mind was definitely made up concerning a matter about which she had heretofore hesitated.

Gail's room was just as Mrs. Molnar had expected to find it. A large pretty room, immaculately clean and decorated in excellent taste. It was made to serve two purposes—that of living room and sleeping quarters. The walls were in the faintest tint of ivory—the faintest warm of coral suggested—and the girl had developed the color scheme in inexpensive but appropriate material. Its main colors were black and gold. Several small rugs of black with gold colored borders were on the floor, and at the windows hung black drapes, well inside, with appliqued figures in gold colored material. The Miss Ruth Mitchell, of Edgely, celebrated her birthday on Tuesday and her mother, who is a member of the Rebecca Lodge, brought with her a large birthday cake which added to the pleasure of the evening. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served at a late hour.

ARROWS WIN CLOSE CONTEST; SCORE, 25-24

By T. M. Juno

Playing an extra five-minute period, the Arrows chalked up a close victory over the Shamrocks, 25-24 last night in the A. O. H. basketball league.

J. Mulligan put in the winning point when he was fouled in the extra minutes of playing.

It was a nip and tuck affair from the opening whistle until the forty-five minutes of playing was over. At no time during the contest did either team hold a lead of more than three points.

Previous to the close of the regular forty-minute game, Culligan made a beautiful shot at a bad angle to tie the score and carry the game over the limit.

Lake and Fallon were high scorers with eleven and ten points respectively.

Summary of game: F. G. F. G. P. T. S. Arrows 25 10 10 25 Shamrocks 24 10 10 24

Referee: Dugan. Timer: Dolan. Scorer: Roe. Halves: 20 minutes.

MAN, 80, PAYS HEARTY TRIBUTE TO NEW KONJOLA

Freed of Stubborn Kidney Trouble After Suffering Twenty-Five Years

MR. RUDOLPH SCHOCKERT

"I can understand now why so many people are enthusiastic about Konjola," said Mr. Rudolph Schockert, of Hallettstown, Pa. "This medicine benefited me although I am 80 years old and had tried many other medicines and treatments without the slightest results. For 25 years I suffered from kidney trouble. My bladder was so weak that sound, refreshing sleep was out of the question. Often I found it almost impossible to get out of bed or to walk. Terrible pains centered across the small of my back."

"It did not take long for Konjola to give me hope and courage. I began to improve immediately. New strength and energy flowed through my body. Then Konjola strengthened my kidneys and stopped the irregular action. All signs of pain have disappeared. I sleep soundly every night and have the energy to walk miles."

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)

WHOOPIES TAKE ANOTHER HIGH SCHOOL PREPARES GAME IN CAGE LEAGUE FOR BASKETBALL SEASON

By T. M. Juno

The Whoopies added another game to their win column in the second game of the evening in the Hibernian basketball league by beating the Fighting Five, 17-6.

It marked the second defeat of the season for the Fighting Five, who dropped to fourth place and enabled the Whoopies to take undisputed possession of third place.

"Chuckie" Connors led the Whoopies on the offense while Ennis and McGinley held well on the defense.

Downs and "Baby" Brady were the losers' best.

Among this nucleus Coach Townsend must build his attack. He has several left-overs from the junior varsity of last year and some of these may turn out to be important cogs in the attacking machine. Among these are: Vincent Galzerano, Joseph Tullio, Joseph Dougherty, William Laferty, Franklin Fine, Robert Wright, Chester White, Rens Swan and Wayne Milnor.

Pat Moran, James Sabatini, Joseph Britton, Albert Tentilacci, Marvis Hart, James Esposito, Harry Dries, Herman Smith, Robert Vanaker, John Cole, Anthony Fantuzzi, Raymond Pico, Nick DiLassio, Peter Bornice and Raymond Kishpaugh are new faces trying for a varsity berth.

The football squad did not do so bad after a rather disastrous beginning. To begin with Coach Townsend did not have sufficient material to form a team of high caliber; then the boys began to fall off the squad because of scholastic activities, injuries and absence from school.

Finally the mentor did mould a young team together which stuck until the end and after receiving some real hard knocks came through to snatch three of their last four games to bring their average to an even .500. Four games on each side of the win and loss column and three ties were the final football tabulations.

Thanksgiving Day will linger for a long while in the minds of many football fans. A small, weak team as Bristol was made the heavy-sized Temple High School eleven bow to them for the second year in succession.

During the past season Bristol scored 41 points while their opponents tallied 69.

In 1928 Bristol won 7, lost 5, scored 114 points and had 142 points scored upon them.

HUNDREDS ATTEND THE FARM PRODUCTS DISPLAY

Agricultural Progress Shown In Farm School Show

CATTLE JUDGING SAT.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Dec. 20.—With exhibits of attractive design in every department of scientific and practical agriculture on view, the fifth annual farm products and livestock show of National Farm School opened yesterday in the new Farm Mechanics and Administration building.

Several hundred people attended the show that will continue daily until next Monday night. The show will be open all day Sunday and every evening.

Rapid progress in agriculture that is being made by Farm School students is shown in the various exhibits, all of which were arranged by the 300 students of the school, all of them city-raised boys. Landscape gardening exhibits of the highest class are to be found in the show.

Judging in the cattle show will start tomorrow morning. Cattle valued at many thousands of dollars from the Erlanger Dairy Farm, a unit of the school, is on display. There will be judging contests conducted among the students tomorrow.

Prize winners were announced today as follows:

Corn: J. McCorkie, Philadelphia; B. Gayman, Chicago; S. Bauman, New York; J. Trimble, Philadelphia; J. Paskin, Brooklyn; Sidman Kleinman, Cleveland; N. Walter, Philadelphia; M. Shindelman, New York; M. Lazrow, Philadelphia; J. Arnovitz, Brooklyn; M. Winkler, Rochester, N. Y.

Apples: P. Spevak, Philadelphia; S. Kleinman, Cleveland; H. Steinberg, Philadelphia; R. Kaiman, Yonkers, N. Y.; H. Plotkin, Pittsburgh; H. Goldman, Brooklyn; A. Rellis, Fairview, Pa.; J. Moser, Trenton; S. Bauman, New York; L. Bolton, New York; C. Boslefsky, Yonkers.

Poultry: B. Zeider, Woodbridge, N. J.; P. Robinson, Brooklyn; E. Golden, Tulsa, Oklahoma; R. Marcus, Hot Springs, Ark.; J. Levine, Philadelphia; E. Golden, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Irving Ray, New York; K. Channin, Philadelphia; A. Geising, Norwood, Pa.

LANGHORNE

John Hibbs, chief electrician, at the Navy Yard, was a recent visitor.

Willard Stoddard and family, of Rhode Island, are visiting relatives here. They expect to locate in this vicinity.

The Friendly Sewing Circle held their last meeting at the home of Mrs. George Cook on West Marshall avenue.

Arthur Black, of Trenton, spent Sunday with relatives in this place.

The senior class of the Langhorne Middletown High School will present "The Green Stocking" on Thursday and Friday nights, December 19th and 20th. The play will be given in I. O.

O. F. Hall on Thursday night and in South Langhorne Casino on Friday night.

One of the social events of the season in this town was the tea given by Miss Woodman and Mrs. Harriett W. Tomb on Thursday afternoon, December 12th. About 200 people were present.

William and Richard Lewis, employees at the Eastburn quarries at Janney, who were in an automobile accident while enroute to the funeral of a relative in Washington, D. C., are reported improving and will soon be able to leave the hospital.

The Christmas entertainment of the M. E. Sunday School will be held in the church on Monday evening, December 23rd. Mrs. Edward D. Osterhout, superintendent of the primary department will have a Christmas party for the little ones on Saturday, December 21st.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian Church held their monthly business meeting and social at the Presbyterian Manse on Friday evening.

ANDALUSIA

On Sunday morning Mrs. Williams, of Bristol Pike, had the misfortune of falling and hurting her ankle. Everyone wishes Mrs. Williams a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotter, of Camden, N. J., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur States.

Lawrence Tomlinson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, of Bristol Pike.

Mrs. Norman Fries entertained the Monday afternoon club and Mrs. Arthur States took the prize home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rulton, of Germantown, visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur States on Sunday evening.

The Andalusia Parent-Teacher Association met in the school house on Monday evening. Everyone is invited to join the association which is very interesting and also helpful to the school. The meeting is held the third Monday night in each month.

State News

HAZLETON, Pa., Dec. 19.—(INS)—Hazleton's senior high school cafeteria sells food to the students at cost—yet for the first three months of the current term a profit of $706 was realized from the cafeteria.

The directors of the school board put their heads together to figure out the knotty problem. A solution, worthy of the recent economic and business conferences in Washington emerged.

Larger portions for the five-cent piece, the maximum sum charged for any portion, will be served at the cafeteria.

Husbands are like shoes. You're proudest of the ones that make the best impression on your friends. But it's the ones that don't cause you any suffering that you get most attached to.

If you don't believe there's a hell ask the old ad: "Poor who are dependent upon a-laws for support."

Flapper: "What time is the next train to Glenside?"
Agent: "You'll have to wait until 4:30, Miss!"

Flapper: "When you be able to tell me then?"

The doll they got for Christmas to stop knocking is so much stuff. Just think what a few dolls in the ten served at bridge parties would do!

Son: "Dad, we learn at school today that the animals have a new fur coat every winter."
Dad: "Be quiet, your mother is in the next room."

A single fact will often spoil an interesting bunch.

Hay: "I heard that the man who gave his wife a job of rubber heels when she broke her foot for a spring outfit?"

The Christmas Tree
Deep in the wood's enchanted heart
I saw a Christmas tree.
An evergreen with slender trunk
Of perfect symmetry.

From topmost twig to lowest branch
That swept the frozen drifts
On all its tasseled boughs were hung
The loveliest of gifts.
Long strings of pearls and diamond stars
And strips of ermine rare,
And soft white feathers light enough
For fairy queens to wear.
And silver tinsel of the frost,
And crystal beads, for lo!
A winter storm on Christmas Eve

Had trimmed it up with snow.
Every town has it. At one old aristocrat who owes over a lad and is insulted by a "dun."
"His face was lined with anxiety."

SMITHEMAN TELLS WHAT TAGS ARE ALL ABOUT

Cross-Word Puzzle Auto License Tags Are Explained In Detail

MANY UNUSUAL ONES

Now that the new Pennsylvania automobile license plates are flashing their cross-word puzzles in the eyes of a dazed and wondering public, the question most frequently heard is, "What's it all about?" The answers include a variety as great as the statistical deluge that greeted the query, some years ago, of "How Old is Ann?"

In response to numerous inquiries, the Keystone Automobile Club attempts to elucidate. (Clark W. Smitheman, editor of Keystone Motorist, who has a flair for figures, was assigned to the task of solving the puzzle.)

"To begin at the beginning," says Mr. Smitheman, "it was really the scarcity of small number tags that brought about this revolution in Ber Eynon's system. With the increase in registrations, the tags began to become elongated into what began to be called billboards. The fact that some figures will be letters only adds interest to the system."

"It all sounds easy—and it is. So easy that a 53-page mimeographed pamphlet has been published to explain it!"

"The 1930 tags begin with 1 as usual. From that up to 99,999 there will be no discernible difference in the appearance, weight, quality or durability of the tags."

"Then starts the modernesque method. Instead of using 100,000 for the next tag, which has six figures in it, A1 is used."

"The A tags continue in orderly procession until A9,999 is reached. At that point something must be done."

"What to do—what to do? Use the next letter of the alphabet, of course. What is the next letter—oh, yes, B. Then the tag, which under the arabic or sheik system of numbering would have been 110,000, becomes, under the Eynon or ex-sheik system, B1."

"Is all that clear?"
"Then follow us—you won't know where you're at before we get through—and probably we won't, either."
"C1 stands for 120,000 and D1 130,000 and so on down the alphabet using twenty of the twenty-six letters. The letters omitted are I, O, Q, T, W, and X."

"I is omitted because of modesty—no self-respecting automobile would use the first person—or perhaps because I looks like 1. O (oh) is omitted because it looks like 0 (nothing) and Q is omitted because it resembles macaroni."

"T is reserved for trucks and X is for dealers. XXXX is, of course, for Xmas."

"Having exhausted the possibilities of one letter and four figures the Eynon system turns to one number-one letter-two number combinations such as 6A748. Then to two number-one letter-three number combinations such as 15235. Then to three number-one letter-one number combinations, as 94307—then to four number-one letter (2458A). You see how it goes? It can go home and try it on your plate."

"Tags have now reached an impossible you may argue. If you know what trippase means. We have used all the letters and all the numbers in rotation and have accounted for a million tags. What to do for the second million?"

"But, silence. We have an ace in the hole. Now we start with TWO letters and THREE numbers. And right here is where it gets interesting; think of tags reading DP666 and MA-231. But the end is not yet. Rapidly and in succession we use up all possible combinations of letters and figures in the 2:3 ratio and come to the end of a perfect day after another half million tags have been struck off and start in all over again with one number-two letters-two numbers. This will give us tags such as 91,274 and 113267."

"After one-two-two comes two-two-one or two numbers-two letters-one number. Then three numbers and two letters leading us to such tags as 123YA and by the time we have reached 80082 the State Highway Department has become tired of figuring and the possible combinations have reached the grand total of 2,419,999 which is as high as the registrations will go next year, anyhow."

Frequently customers who must watch every purchase carefully ask me to recommend a bread. I do not hesitate to name Bond. It's a firm, close-baked loaf, which means that there's more substance to it. You get additional value, along with a flavor to be compared only with the best home-baked. With home-like Bond Bread it seems to be "once a user, always a user."

HARTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 20—(INS)—The old historic covered bridge across the Neshaunty north of here has been doomed by the unceasing march of progress.

Bids have been asked for a new concrete structure to replace the present span that has served pedestrian and vehicle traffic since the Civil War.

Bids have been asked for a new concrete structure to replace the present span that has served pedestrian and vehicle traffic since the Civil War.

Although not the last of the covered bridges in the Philadelphia area, comsiderable interest has been aroused by the announcement that bids will be considered for a new structure.

Over its predecessor, Washington led his ragged file of Continental Revolutionists during the struggle with Great Britain. A short distance upstream is the site of the Old Log College, a pioneer educational influence in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Downstream from the ancient bridge is the tablet that stands beside the Philadelphia road commemorating the early steamboat experiments of John Fitch.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Dec. 20—(INS)—Police who, when seeking to bring one law violator to justice, unearthed another crime, are entirely within their rights in making an arrest for the unlooked violation, even though the actual arrest itself is wrongly made.

This was the decision reached by Judge Knight at a habeas corpus hearing here, the writ having been sought by David Garner, held prisoner in the Montgomery County Jail charged with illegal possession of liquor.

It was testified at the hearing that police officers, seeking Dewey Henderson in connection with a shooting affray, had entered Garner's home where they found a quantity of liquor. Garner was placed under arrest.

Garner's lawyer argued that the arrest of Garner and the subsequent seizure of the liquor was illegal, contending the search had not been made under the privileges of a search warrant issued for probable cause.

Judge Knight ruled that the responsibility of the alleged mistake rested with the officers but that, according to the testimony, they had found contraband whisky while searching for another man and therefore were justified in making the arrest and seizing the alleged liquor.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 20—(INS)—Blackrobed judges on the sombre criminal court bench have been known to frown severely on the excuses, some of which would not do credit to a truant school boy, put forward by prospective jurors when called for duty in the jury box.

There is one unfailing formula, however.

As William McBride stepped forward for duty, a messenger reached the courtroom bearing the glad tidings that a daughter had just been born to Mrs. McBride.

McBride was excused with the congratulations of the court.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Dec. 20—(INS)—A warning to the motorist, rich or poor, who persists in operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor was sounded by Judge Watson R. Davison, of the Franklin County Circuit Court, in an address before the fourth annual conference of Secretaries of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation here.

Judge Davison outlined a theory he has held since he took the bench. That theory, he said, is that the man who operates an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor has no regard for his own life or the lives of other motorists or pedestrians and is entitled to no consideration from the court.

Jail sentences will be meted out in his court to rich and poor alike who pilot automobiles while under the influence of liquor, Judge Davison declared.

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Dec. 20—(INS)—Frank Cable, 20-year-old youth of West Bridgewater, believes his life and the disposition he makes of it is his "own personal business."

At least, that was the sole explanation Cable would make when questioned by police concerning his attempt to end his life with a .32 calibre revolver.

Cable was found lying on the porch of his home with blood streaming from a wound in his chest. A doctor was hurriedly summoned but by the time the physician arrived the would-be suicide had disappeared.

Chief of Police Daniel M. Baker rounded up Cable and forced him to submit to the physician's ministrations despite the youth's insistence that the affair was his "own personal business."

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Dec. 20—(INS)—Lightning isn't supposed to strike in the same place twice and perhaps it doesn't. The stork, however, is indifferent to proverbs.

A recent meeting of the West End Fire Company of this city was postponed when the stork visited the home of two officers of the company on the same night.

Prospective firemen were left at the homes of Sam Mahalski and John Patrick, financial and recording secretaries of the fire company.

ELIZABETHTOWN, Pa., Dec. 20—(INS)—Dedication of the first unit of the new State Hospital for Crippled Children here is expected to take place early in February.

Twelve children from the State sanatorium at Mount Alto will be the first patients at the new institution. Other children will be sent to the hospital as rapidly as accommodations possible additional expenditures for construction work on new units will be provided for out of the general fund of the State in the event new units are deemed necessary.

1929 LONG DISTANCE PLANE TRIPS NOTABLE

Many Are These, Which Are Some Outstanding Features of Year

RECORD OF 5,500 MILES

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS).—Completed and attempted long distance airplane flights during 1929 were many.

Outstanding among them was the flight of Captain Deudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte from Paris to Tientsin, Manchuria. This intrepid pair, flying in a plane of French manufacture, succeeded in establishing a new non-stop record of approximately 5,500 miles.

Other notable flights were the following:

(1) A flight of approximately 1600 miles from his base at Little America to the South Pole and return was made by Commander Richard Byrd, Bernt Balchen and others in a trimotored plane. The polar flight was one of many flights made by Byrd during his exploration activities at the "bottom of the world."

Are Forced Down

(2) Three French flyers, Rene Lefevre, Jean Assolant and Armeno Lotti and an American stowaway, Arthur Schreiber, flew a distance of 3,500 miles from Old Orchard, Me., to an obscure town on the coast of Spain. The men were attempting a non-stop hop to Paris, but were forced down far short of their destination by lack of gasoline. They blamed the failure of their project on the added weight of the stowaway.

(3) Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, American aviators, hopped off from Old Orchard on an attempted non-stop flight to Rome, but like their French rivals, also were forced down.

Spanish Fliers

Start Non-Stop Hop to Uruguay

Major Tadeo Larre-Borges and Mechanic Challes took off on a non-stop flight from Spain to Uruguay. The first three hundred miles of the trip was made in less than three hours. The big plane was last seen off the coast of Africa.

on the coast of Spain by lack of gas. After refueling in Spain they proceeded on to Rome and were royally received by the Italians.

(4) Captain Frank Hawks in a Lockheed-Vega racer owned by an oil company, flew from Los Angeles to New York and then back again after a ground refueling in an attempt to set a new two way speed record for the distance. He covered approximately 5,000 miles on the two hops and succeeded in garnering the records which he was after.

Chicago Attempt

(5) Untin Bowler, a Chicago plane, with a crew of three bound for London by way of Greenland and Iceland but disaster overtook the plane in the bleak wastes of Labrador three days after the start of the flight. A stiff gale carried it from its emergency moorings on a ice cake and the crew was forced to return to Chicago by boat and train.

(6) Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh made numerous flights over Central American for commercial and exploration purposes. The longest of these was approximately 2,000 miles.

Other long distance flights, all of which ended with fatal results, were the Paris to New York hop of the two Polish flyers; the Paris to New York hop of the two Swiss flyers and the Harbor Grace, Newfoundland to London flight of Urban F. Dittman, Montana cowboy.

TULLYTOWN

A fine program has been arranged for the annual Christmas entertainment which will be held in the church auditorium on Monday evening, under the auspices of the Sunday School.

The program consists of many recitation and exercises.

Angelo Napoli and son, Joseph, of Main street, were visitors in Trenton, Tuesday.

Two games of basketball will be played in Mont's Hall, Main street, on Friday night. The T. A. C. Junior team will meet a five from Morrisville, while the senior team will meet the Remington team. These promise to be two good games. The games being played twice each week are drawing large crowds.

Mrs. C. Clyde Levergood, of Main street, has been confined to her home for the past few days on account of illness.

AN ENGLISH TYPE COTTAGE

By R. C. Hunter & Brothers, Architects, New York

For the small family that seeks a home of distinction, this little English cottage should receive consideration. Not only will it give a home of character but will prove an economical investment as well, for, it is designed to be built at low cost.

The sketch of the exterior gives one a good idea as to how the house will appear when built, while the floor plans show the compact, economical layout that is to be desired.

The walls are frame construction with stucco finish, the chimney is red brick, the roof is slate and the timber work, etc., is stained.

One enters the house through a vestibule, on either side of which are provided generous coat closets.

From the vestibule one passes into the living room. The stairs start up from the living room and land in the center of the house at the second floor, thus requiring but small hall space.

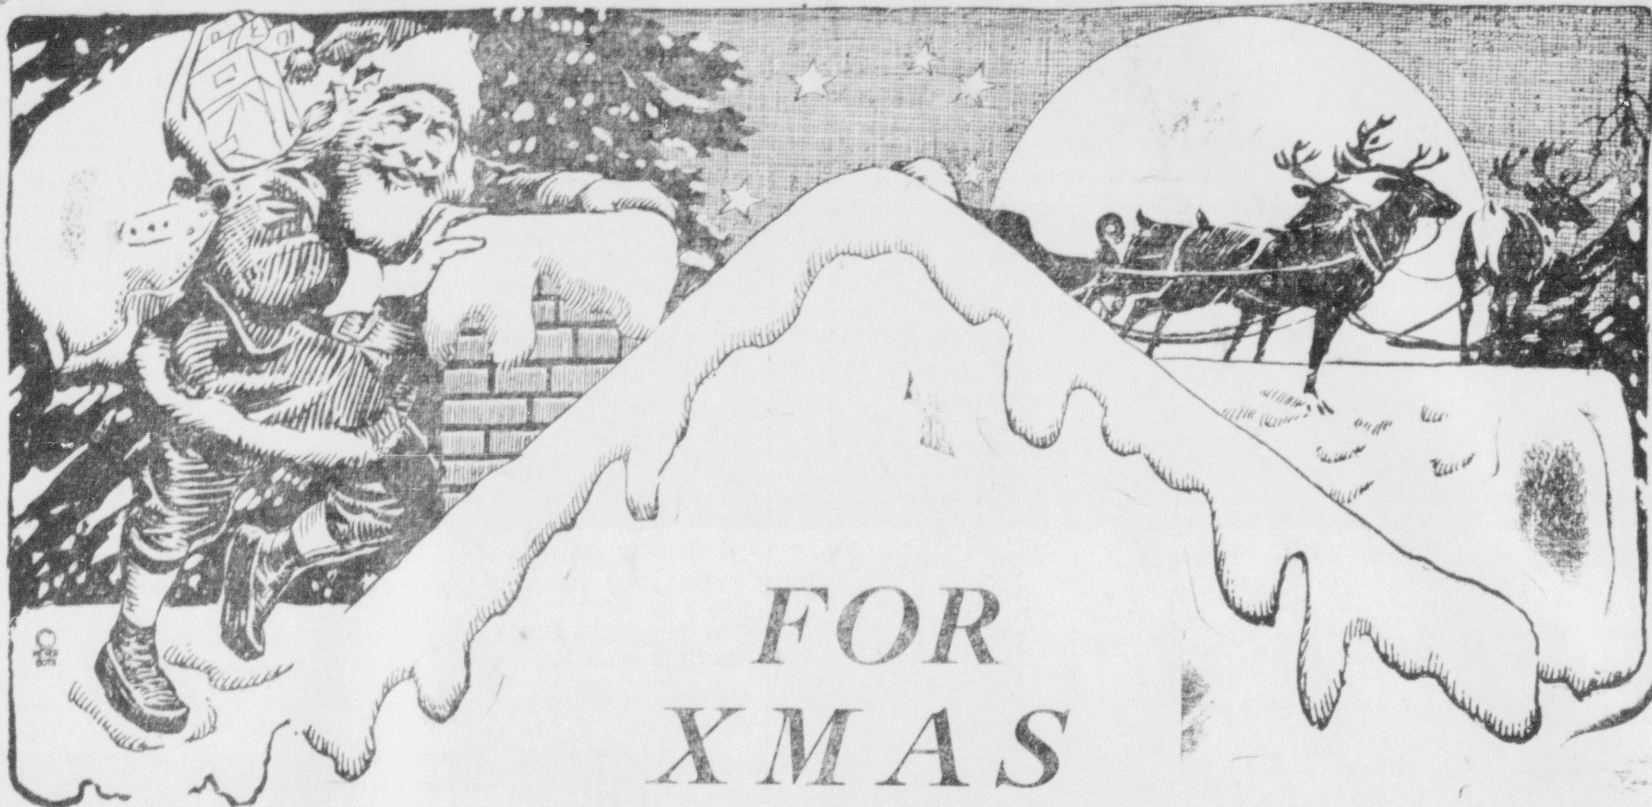

A single service entry serves the kitchen, refrigerator and cellar. The kitchen is well arranged. The sink is located directly beneath a window and has large cupboards on either side.

Two good bed rooms, a bath and plenty of closets complete the second floor plan. Storage space is provided in the attic.

A cellar extends under the entire house and here is provided the laundry, the space for heater, the coal bin and such.

In building this house the first floor level should be established two steps above the grade, so the finished house will set close to the ground as shown in the sketch.

Complete working plans and specifications of this house may be obtained for a nominal sum from the Building Editor. Refer to House A-110.

And then -- don't only imagine it -- come here and see it! Hear it and you'll want it! Other amazing models in the Crosley line are here ready for immediate delivery. An entirely new idea of Radio awaits you!

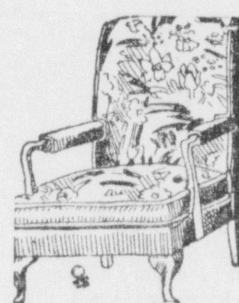

Seven tubes, including rectifier -- four 226 tubes, one 227, one 171-A and one 280. Grid-to-grid neutralization -- a full Neutrodyne patented circuit developed especially for this set by the Hazeltine Corporation -- and yet, the lowest priced A. C. set in the field.

7 tube A.C. Electric including Rectifier - - $55

WITHOUT TUBES
I want you to come in and see this set! Hear it in operation. You will be surprised at its beauty. You will be amazed at its full, beautiful tone and its astounding performance! Nothing like it has ever been offered to the radio public before. Only Crosley could offer such a set at such a low price.
